I wish to strongly support the proposal by planners in the new development plan for 2023 - 2029 to re-zone the indicated land (beside/behind Woodstock View, Shanaway Road) from 'residential' to 'agricultural'. General planning approaches for Ennis going forward are emphasising the need for Ennis to become a 10-minute town which is in line with government policy directives seeking a reduction in the amount of low-density zonings on the periphery of towns and in the interest of sustainability. Residential development in this area is not in line with current planning proposals that no additional large areas of land be used for residential development and that development in the Woodstock neighbourhood would only focus on consolidation of the existing pattern of development by the development of infill sites.
